Comparative Values in Footwear

WITH the majority of people, price is the chief consideration in purchasing footwear.

That's why there are so many uncomfortable feet in Canada to-day and so many dissatisfied shoe purchasers.

For low-priced shoes cannot be good shoes—the high cost of good materials and skilled labour wont permit.

Then why experiment—at the expense of your comfort—with low-priced shoes? Why not wear and be thoroughly satisfied?

Distinctive and pleasing in appearance, they possess that style individuality that is the hallmark of fine footwear. Invictus Shoes will outwear ordinary low priced shoes—yet they cost little more.

TEACHER WANTED

A teacher wanted for Mowers School District No. 780. Apply, stating qualifications, to C. DEARMICK, Didsbury.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Smith and daughters, Mrs. J. C. Riner and Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, who have been out camping at the Fallen Timber for about ten days returned to town on Tuesday. They report a splendid time and also caught a large number of fish.

AROUND THE TOWN

Mrs. D. C. Davidson will not receive again this season.

Fred Moyle returned from his visit to B. C. on Friday last.

Court of confirmation for arrears of taxes was held on Wednesday.

See the Elkton Creamery proprietor about getting in on the egg circle.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Dickson were visitors at Innisfail on Wednesday.

Mr. J. T. Johanneason of Bergen, left for St. Paul, Minn., and other U. S. points on a vacation on Friday last.

W. G. Liesemer and J. V. Berscht have the foundations for their new buildings about completed.

F. Moyle commenced work on his new block last week and it is being rushed as quickly as possible.

Rev. L. P. Amacher, will preach in the Sunnyslope (West) schoolhouse on Sunday at 10.30 a.m.

Mrs. W. G. Liesemer and daughter and Mrs. Geo. Liesemer and daughter left on Sunday for a visit to friends in Ontario.

J. E. Stauffer, M.L.A., T. W. Cuncannon, manager of the Union Bank, J. A. Findlay and G. Rice were all business visitors at Calgary last week.

Rev. D. Fulton, who will be in Didsbury Sunday next, in the interest of Temperance will preach at Westcott, at the Evangelical church at 11 a.m.

The fine rains that have come in the last few days have been of great benefit to the crops, and also put out the bad bush fires that were raging in the west.

At the ball game on Tuesday it was noticed that several entered the park by the over or under the fence route instead of paying their two bits to see the game. Perhaps these people have their money all tied up in oil stocks and cannot afford to pay to see a game, but just the same it was worth the price of admission to see the game and they should sell a few oil shares just to help support the team if for nothing else.

Miss Pettigrew of Calgary, will address the ladies of Didsbury in the Presbyterian church on Friday afternoon, June 12th at three o'clock, and will also address an open meeting in the evening at eight o'clock in the same church. Miss Pettigrew is matron of one of the Rescue Homes in Calgary, and her address will be along the lines of social service work.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed in the Evangelical church on Sunday evening, the service commencing at 7.30 p.m. Rev. L. H. Wagner of Regina, Sask., Supt. of Missions, will preach and conduct the service. He will also preach a pre-communion sermon on Friday evening, at 8 o'clock and hold the Quarterly Conference which is to follow the preaching service.

On Monday evening the Rev. Amacher, the new pastor of the Evangelical church, and his estimable wife gave the young ladies bible class and the young men of the church and Sabbath school a very pleasant evening. There were over thirty present who gave evidence that the evening was a very pleasant one. As they separated for their homes it was with the evident feeling that they were forming very pleasant feelings toward their new pastor and his family.

At the Council meeting of Mountain View Municipality on Saturday last a deadlock occurred over the striking of the tax rate for the year. One section of the Council wanted a high rate the other a low, with honors even. As there is only five councillors and a reeve the vote stood three to three for some time, Reeve Pearson, Deputy Reeve Rupp and Councillor Francis standing out for a low rate. A compromise was finally made by putting the rate at 5 1-2 mills.

An Indian Ghost Story

Several years ago I had a studio in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and the walls of my reception rooms and office were hung with large photographs of Indians. One day I was visited by six men of the Navajo tribe who, after much smoking and visiting, made known the real cause of their call. Directly over my desk was a framed portrait of one of the old medicine men of their tribe, who had just died. Believing that a part of his soul was imprisoned in the portrait—else how could it look so like him?—they asked me if I would not destroy it, so that his spirit might be released and be at peace. I immediately took the print from the frame and tore it into bits while the men looked on with silent approval. After thanking me they each shook my hand in turn and filed quietly out of the room. They did not suspect that there might still be in existence other copies of the picture or a negative. Karl Moon in Leslie's.

NEW HOPE FOR SUFFERERS FROM PARALYSIS

There are cases of paralysis that cannot be cured. But that is far different from saying that every case of paralysis is incurable. There is absolute proof that many forms of this disease are curable. Of the cases that cannot be cured many can be so benefited that the formerly hopeless sufferer will once more find life worth living.

Attention is called to the remarkable cures that have been effected in case of partial disorders, by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Some of these cures are so wonderful as to challenge belief, but in every case the statements have been carefully verified and may be investigated by anyone interested. In this connection the case of Miss B. Millehan, of St. John, N.B., is worthy of the most careful attention. Miss Millehan says: "Some three years ago I was taken seriously ill with diphtheria. The doctors brought me safely through this dreaded trouble, and I was assumed to be well. But two weeks later I took a relapse, my throat and limbs becoming paralyzed. I could neither speak nor walk. I was under the best of medical care, and after a few weeks was able to sit up in bed, but my throat was still completely paralyzed and I could only utter unintelligible sounds. I was treated by three of St. John's best physicians, for this trouble and my case was given up as hopeless. A friend asked me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but I had spent so much on medicine without help that I thought it would be only a further waste of money. However, I felt myself growing daily weaker and weaker, and I decided as a last chance that I would try the Pills. By the time I had taken half a dozen boxes I could walk across the floor, something doctors had told me could never happen again. I still continued taking the pills, my speech returned, and I felt myself in perfect health. My friends thought my restoration nothing short of a miracle, and I think myself that I have to thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that I am living today, and I feel confident they can do quite as much for others as they did for me."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills effect cures in cases of this kind because they make new, rich, red blood, which feeds and strengthens the nerves, and tones up the whole system. If you are in need of a medicine give these pills a trial. We are confident you will not be disappointed. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Lighthouse Bird Perches

Bird perches on lighthouses will soon be put to the test as a device for saving the lives of hundreds of birds who, in the ordinary way, would perish on striking the lenses of the powerful lights during their flights to England for the summer. Recent observations has led to the belief that the birds are not killed as a rule dashing against the light, but by sheer weariness. The lighthouses probably disturb the instinct of the birds for direction. If the light is made in one dash they keep the sense of direction intact. If they stop and circle around the light they become temporarily dazed.

The Royal Society for the Preservation of Birds is interested in this scheme, and it is hoped to make bird perches a permanent equipment of the lighthouse.

Two Auto Accidents

Last week seemed to be an unlucky one for residents of Didsbury who were taking trips to outside towns and cities by the automobile route, no less than two cars being upset. One was attended by rather serious results while the other was more lucky.

J. MCGHEE'S CAR TURNS TURTLE

The first accident happened to Mr. James McGhee's car just south of Innisfail on Wednesday evening. The occupants of the car were Mr. and Mrs. C. Baker, Mrs. F. Bullis and Mr. J. McGhee. Something went wrong with the steering apparatus just as they were going down a sandy hill, causing the car to swerve to one side and breaking one of the rear wheels which put the car into a ditch, completely upsetting it and pinning the occupants underneath. Although somewhat bruised all escaped serious injury except Mrs. C. Baker who is suffering from a dislocated shoulder.

The car was only going about fifteen miles an hour when the accident happened but it put the car out of business for a while.

BASEBALL BOYS IN MIX-UP

The second accident happened on Friday night near Red Deer when Jones Bros. car turned over with its occupants. D. Jones was at the steering wheel when the accident happened, and T. Stark, J. Pirie, W. Scheidt, D. Whiteside, all members of the local baseball team who were going to Red Deer to play a league game, were passengers. All were badly shaken up but fortunately no one was injured and the wind shield was the only part of the car that was broken. The accident had the effect of shaking the nerve of the baseball players which no doubt had something to do with their losing the game, although it was a good one.

Pearson Locates Well in Didsbury District

Local feeling over the oil situation is still somewhat warm and the fact that W. Pearson of Calgary, President of the Ottawa Petroleum Co. was a visitor in Didsbury over the week end and went out west in the Bergen district and located the site for a well for his company caused a little flurry. Mr. Pearson's company owns several leases, amongst them being one on Sec. 7, T. 32, R. 5, close to the Monarch well site, which is the one they are going to drill on. It is expected that the drilling apparatus will be on the ground in thirty days.

Several of our residents will recall that Mr. Pearson was a resident of Didsbury for a year or two and was an enthusiastic football and hockey player, and consequently will wish him success in his undertaking.

Lines on the Loss of the Empress of Ireland

Queen of the ocean, Pride of the deep,
No more shalt thou rise
To the billows wild sweep.
On the bed of the stream,
Thy wreckage now lies
Deeply hidden away from pitying eyes.

Little thought we, bidding goodbye,
We'd ne'er meet again
Till we meet you on High.
You stepp'd from the gangway
Straight into your berth—
'Twas the gangway to heaven just resting on earth.

Mourn for the lost, gone to their grave,
Fair maiden and youth
Are asleep 'neath the wave.
Both old age and childhood,
Are now lying at rest,
E'en to the mother, with the babe
at her breast.

Deep is the gloom, cast o'er the land,
Caused by the loss
Of that bright, happy band.
But we'll meet them we know,
When our journey is o'er,
And eternally dwell on yon sunny shore.

A letter has been received by the Town from the Minister of Municipalities in regard to putting on a business license. The letter appears in another column. According to this letter it seems that the town municipalities have no power at all now to put on this business tax and that there is no limit placed on the general taxation. This means that the man who owns a lot has to pay up for the man who does not but draws a revenue from the trade produced by the exertions of the property owners who helped to build up the town. Of course the single taxers will up and say that the property owners can increase their rentals to cover this increased taxation, but that does not, as a general rule, workout very good in the smaller towns because it is apt to make rentals very high, and gives the capitalist a chance to soak the renter for more than the property is really worth; the renter pays nothing to the upkeep of the town and his competitor is soaked for being progressive. If the government idea is to put the towns out of business they can take no surer way than to soak them as they are under this single tax system, put on without giving the old established towns a chance to arrange their financial conditions gradually.

Didsbury Baseball Team Looks Like a Winner

(By our special correspondent)

Some of the local fans may not have a very high opinion of our ball team but last Friday at Red Deer the boys showed their real class. Weak spots of course showed up but manager Stark is looking for new material which will strengthen the team a great deal and before many days the team will be strong enough to hold their own with any team in the league.

The auto accident just out of Red Deer put a damper on the spirits of the boys, many of them getting a bad shaking up.

The infield could be strengthened somewhat, also two spots in the outer garden. In some cases the batters are weak stick handlers but under the watchful eye of manager Stark this could be overcome to a great extent.

The game was a pitchers battle between Dowell of the local nine and Smith of Red Deer, but our local boy having the best of the argument, in addition to holding the Grays down to three safeties fanned eight of the opposition, only six of the balls which were hit by Red Deer went outside of the infield but loose fielding by the locals were responsible for the runs made. With good support behind him in the field Dowell would have shut out his opponents. Stark at the receiving end gave him good support. Costly errors were made by Schrader in left garden and Shantz at right, both being easy outs. McKnight, at short, failed to cover and base at an opportune time allowing the runner to reach second. Rice at first showed up well, but one error being chalked up against him. Whiteside at center had very little to do, very few hits going into his territory. Scheidt at third pulled down a hot liner in the fifth innings stopping two or three runs, the bases being full at the time was a feature of the game. Woods at second looks good with more practice. The masterly pitching of both slab artists kept the runs down up to the fourth innings; in that innings with two down and two strikes on Wakelyn, the third baseman of Red Deer, who hit out a dinky fly to short outfield but by a bone headed play by one of the locals a runner was allowed to score. Didsbury's first and only run came in the sixth innings after two men were out. Stark made a pretty single then stole second. Scheidt next man up after having two strikes called on him slammed out a two-bagger scoring Stark, and that was all during the game.

WIN FROM BOWDEN

Another league game was played on the home diamond on Tuesday night when the Bowden team tried conclusions with Didsbury. The game was a pretty one from start to finish, both teams playing the game for all there was in it and and playing in a sportmanlike manner. The home team have improved wonderfully since their last game at home and Dowell, the home pitcher, was certainly at home, in fact his work was the big feature of interest at the game. Eight innings was played and the score stood Didsbury—11010001—4.
Bowden—00000000—0.
Batteries—Didsbury, Dowell and Stark; Bowden, Washburn and Pear.
Struck out by Dowell 11. By Washburn 6.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The confusion and consternation, the agony of all little Barbara's friends, can hardly be described. They could not do enough for her. But until her father was buried she sat very still, hardly speaking, not murmuring in the least, looking sadly, sweetly patient, but, as those who loved her best said, just as though she were miles and miles away in another world.

That most charming Rectory in North Devonshire, where the old Rector had lived his life and passed out, of it so suddenly, was now to be given to another. Meanwhile, the lawyers, Messrs. Parkes and Sunningley, came down from London to be present at the funeral. The Rector's cousin and greatest friend, Dean Chance, of Exham Cathedral, came over and immediately begged of Barbara to make her home with him. But this she refused, for Sunningley who was also her cousin, told her that her father had insured his life for two thousand pounds. This, with a little money—about thirty pounds per annum—which she inherited from her mother, would give her enough to live on, at least for the present. She thought of Ralph, and her heart beat. Oh, how far away he was! There were certain addresses which might in the course of time find him, but he was not with her now, when she wanted him so terribly. There was a curious obstinacy about this girl—perhaps it was one of her charms, perhaps it was the secret of her undoubted strength of character—but be that as it may, she refused all offers of outside help. She would live on her little income and take a tiny house near the beloved Rectory, and near all her friends. Joan would come with her and take care of her. Oh, yes, they could manage. The lawyers said they could safely secure her five per cent. for her money! they said nothing with regard to legacy duty—what did Barbara know of such things? Sunningley and Dean Chance would between them pay the legacy duty, and thus she could get a hundred a year on the two thousand pounds.

The Rector died in November, and it was a month later, almost to the day, when all these arrangements were being made and Barbara's tiny future home taken, that the next and most awful blow of all fell. She was not prepared for it, that was one thing; she was weak, too, from sorrow, which made it still harder to bear. But it fell upon her on the evening of a day which she had been spending with Margot Fenwick at Fenwick Chase, one of the finest man-

SCREAMED WITH PAIN OF SCALDED LEG

And Foot. In Bad State. Inflamed and Festered. Could Not Sleep. Completely Cured by Cuticura Ointment in Short Time.

Middle La Hve, N. S.—"My sister scalded her leg and foot very badly with a pan of boiling water. She suffered very much and her leg was in a bad state. The skin was red and inflamed and it festered. She suffered dreadful pain. She scalded it in the evening and could not sleep that night and could not bear to have anything near it.

"We tried — and — and then some — but everything seemed to make it worse and she just screamed for pain. I told my mother about Cuticura Ointment and we got a box immediately and bandaged up her foot and leg. Two applications made quite a difference and we kept on using it and in a short time her leg and foot were completely cured." (Signed) Miss L. Parks, May 17, 1913.

sions in North Devon.

Barbara was only nineteen, and she looked still younger, so petite was her neat little figure, and now and then some of the old happiness used to flash into her lovely eyes, and the girls who loved her watched for it with delight. Margot had invited Barbara and also the two Charltons, girls of the name of Averil and Grace, to tea. They were chatting, as girls will, and they got Barbara to promise that no one else should help her when she made her grand move from the Rectory to the little cottage. Suddenly, in the midst of their eager conversation, a strange and overpowering memory visited Barbara. She recalled her father's dying words—"You will find it—you will obey." The memory of these words came over her with an overpowering sense of dread. She had only a day or two longer to spend at the Rectory, for the new Rector wanted to get settled in before Christmas. In the excitement and sorrow of the last month those words and the agony on that dear face and the charred remains of a letter in the grate had more or less passed out of her memory. But now she recalled them vividly. Suddenly it seemed to her that even the laughter of Margot Fenwick was intolerable, that the chatter of Grace and Averil hurt her head. She rose abruptly from her seat.

"I must go, girls," she said. "I had forgotten something which must be attended to. I must go."

She stooped to kiss Margot, flinging her soft arms round her friend's neck. How little did either of them guess what a long time would elapse before they could kiss each other again!

"If you have anything to do," said Grace, "do let me come and help you. I should adore to come, and I am very good at putting things straight, am I not, Ave?"

But Barbara said: "No; I must be alone, and I must go at once, at once."

The next minute she was walking up the winding avenue, and the girls looked after her with disappointment on their faces. Why had she gone away so quickly?

"I don't like it. I feel nervous about her?" said Margot.

"Oh, there can be nothing," said Averil, "only I wish she had let Grace go and help her. Grace is so matter-of-fact."

CHAPTER II.

Perhaps, all things considered, there was no girl in all the world more loved than Barbara Chance. This was, as her friends expressed it because of her "happy face." And yet now, on this terrible fourth of December, she was not happy, she was overpowered by fear, and she had to hide this fear at any risk from her dear old servant, Joan. During the Rector's life-time Barbara had wanted for no ordinary comforts. The living of Worthington-on-the-Hill was a good one; there were plenty of servants, and although the Rector gave largely to the poor, his own house was well appointed and well kept. On this occasion she arrived home between five and six o'clock; old Joan was waiting for her, for a great many of the other servants had already been dismissed. Barbara ate sparingly in the great dining room, and Joan talked to her—was she not her nursing, her darling, whom she had brought up since her mother's death?

"Joan," said Barbara, "I have taken the wee house, and I think we shall be quite happy in it. There is a garden back and front, and we will have Michael in once a week to keep it in order. Do you know, Joan, it is rather fun being a poor girl; it will be so clever of us to contrive and make two ends meet. My friends think it awful that I should be poor, Joan, but, do you know, I am downright glad?"

"Then heaven forgive ye, my blessed lamb," said the old servant. "Ye know not what poverty means, my darling. It's grind, and grind, and grind, that's what poverty is. It takes the very life out of ye, Miss Barbara, that's what poverty does."

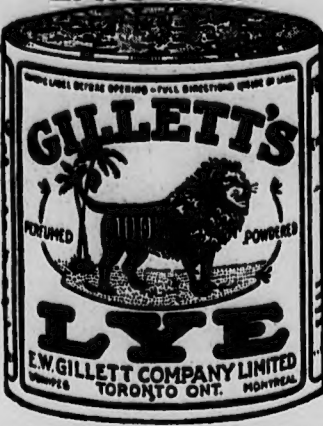

"Joan," said the girl, "I am ashamed of you. We shall have enough, will not enough do? You won't forsake me, will you, Joan?"

"As if I could forsake my nursing!" Barbara rose from the table; she kissed the old woman and looked at the clock over the mantelpiece. "I shall be up for several hours," she said. "I am going into"—she dropped her voice—"father's study. I have papers to look through there. Please promise me, Joan, to go to bed at the usual time. I must get my work done in the library tonight, and I cannot be disturbed."

Joan looked as though she wished to expostulate, but no one ever did expostulate with Barbara—that little tinge of obstinacy in her character made it useless. Accordingly, about an hour and a half later, the servants might have been heard going up to their respective rooms. Joan was the last to go. The old Rectory was now shut up for the night. When this happened, Barbara rose from where she was seated in her father's armchair. A fire was laid in the grate—the night was a bitterly cold one—and Barbara struck a match and set the paper burning, the wood crackling, and soon the coal caught the grateful heat and merry flames danced up the chimney.

While her father was alive Barbara was the only person who had access to the library. It was she who dusted it and kept it in order; it was a room sacred to father and daughter. Mr. Chance received his parishioners

In the parish room, which was situated quite at the other side of the rambling old Rectory. It was there he gave them good counsel and all the help that lay within his power. But it was in the library he liked to sit, and it was in this room Barbara sat with him from the time, seventeen years ago, when she was a little motherless child, until she grew up.

She recalled that last dreadful scene in the library, the noble and yet stricken figure, the charred letter, burnt to ashes, unreadable, and the strange, strange words which came from the blue lips in their death agony.

"You will find it. You will obey. Promise."

What was she to find? How was she to obey?

She had a certain premonition which told her that the scene of her search must be in the room where she was now seated. Whatever of secrets the Rector had, Barbara felt assured that they were concealed in the library. How could she have let a whole month pass without obeying those words of agony? Well, at least she would delay not a moment longer now.

WAKEFUL BABIES

If your baby does not sleep, if he is cross, cries a great deal and will not be comforted, that is the time to give him Baby's Own Tablets. They promote sleep—not the drugged unnatural kind obtained through the use of "soothing" mixtures, but that refreshing natural sleep of the healthy child. The Tablets banish all stomach and bowel complaints—the direct cause of crossness and sleeplessness. Concerning them Mrs. E. Medras, Grand Bois, Que., says: "When I began using Baby's Own Tablets baby was so troubled with constipation he would not sleep day or night. Now all this trouble has vanished and he is a strong healthy child." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Our contributor's small friend, little Rollo, aged five, had always observed that fish was the big dish at his home on Friday. And he had observed that the rule held in the neighboring households.

Recently, little Rollo was sent out to visit his grandma in the country. And after a day or two he missed something.

"Grandma," said he, "ain't it ever Friday in the country?"

"What a question," she laughed. "Of course it is. Today is Friday, dear."

"Well," said Rollo. "It don't smell like Friday."

CAUSE AND EFFECT Good Digestion Follows Right Food

Indigestion and the attendant discomforts of mind and body are certain to follow continued use of improper food.

Those who are still young and robust are likely to overlook the fact that, as dropping water will wear a stone away at last, so will the use of heavy, greasy, rich food, finally cause loss of appetite and indigestion.

Fortunately many are thoughtful enough to study themselves and note the principle of cause and effect in their daily food. A young woman writes her experience thus:

"Sometime ago I had a lot of trouble from indigestion, caused by too rich food. I got so I was unable to digest scarcely anything, and medicines seemed useless."

"A friend advised me to try Grape-Nuts food, praising it highly and as a last resort, I tried it. I am thankful to say that Grape-Nuts not only relieved me of my trouble, but built me up and strengthened my digestive organs so that I can now eat anything I desire. But I stick to Grape-Nuts."

Funerals in Peru

According to social usage, women in Peru cannot attend funerals, and they do not appear at weddings unless they are very intimate friends. When a funeral procession passes through the streets the coffin is carried upon the shoulders of the pallbearers, who are followed by an empty hearse drawn by two, four or six horses, according to the means of the mourners and their desire for display. All the male members of the family and friends of the deceased follow on foot with a line of empty carriages behind them. As long as they are in the presence of the dead it is considered a proper and necessary evidence of respect to walk. After the body has been committed to the grave those who attend the funeral are brought home in the carriages.

Miller's Worm Powders destroy worms without any inconvenience to the child, and so effectually that they pass from the body unperceived. They are not ejected in their entirety, but are ground up and pass away through the bowels with the excreta. They thoroughly cleanse the stomach and bowels and leave them in a condition not favorable to worms, and there will be no revival of the pests.

Ancient "Granary of the Empire"

It is difficult to imagine, but true, that as regards wheat, Britain in early days was the Canada of the Roman Empire. The Romans invested money in British land, sent their agents over to look after it, and there were fields of corn on the northern slopes of the Thames, across the Strand and Holborn, to Islington, the grain of which was transported to the imperial city. London now occupies those ancient wheat farms.

Kept Them All on Edge

One of the favorite devices of Lord Nelson when ships were cruising in company was to signal to a given craft that Lieut. Smith or Staff Engineer Brown or Captain of Marines Jones was to take charge, on the assumption that all his superior officers on board had been put out of action. The author of "Trafalgar Refought," says the result was very good, for every one therefore made a point of trying to make himself fit to carry out the duty should it ever be assigned to him.

$100 REWARD, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Don't Overwork the Heart

"To keep your temper is rather a good thing," says Dr. Strickland-Goodall of London. "Every time the heart contracts its force would raise a weight of two pounds to the height of one foot, and it does this from 70 to 140 times every minute."

"Running to catch a train increases the heart's work by 228 foot pounds a minute. Ascending a staircase slowly increases the heart's work by 112 foot pounds and ascending quickly by 162 foot pounds."

"A man who is really angry increases the work of his heart by 72 foot pounds. A rest of half an hour daily would save in a year 219,000 foot pounds of work on the heart."

Drives Asthma Like Magic.—The immediate help from Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy seems like magic. Nevertheless it is only a natural remedy used in a natural way. The smoke or vapor, reaching the most remote passage of the affected tubes, brushes aside the trouble and opens a way for fresh air to enter. It is sold by dealers throughout the land.

Some birds, like all children, like to play, and Australia and New Guinea produce the "bower bird," which builds regular playhouses. These houses are not a part of their nests, but are constructed usually in the shape of covered archways of little boughs two or three feet long, eighteen inches high and about as wide. They use these houses simply for their games, as if they were clubhouses. Generally these playhouses are decorated with bright colored shells and feathers.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE THROUGHOUT DOMINION

IN EASTERN CANADA PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND HAS THE LARGEST PERCENTAGE

In Western Canada Every Effort is Put Forth in Providing Means of Education for the Increasing Population, New Schools Being Opened Every Week of the Year.

The school attendance in Canada is set forth in a statistical report just published by the census branch and based upon the last census. The total population between the ages of six and twenty years was 2,142,909, of which number 1,124,800 were attending school in 1910. The percentage is 52.51. Of the total 991,534 were Canadians, 58,115 British and 75,151 foreign born. In the eastern provinces the highest percentage of attendance between 7 and 14 years was in Prince Edward Island with 84.60 per cent., closely followed by Ontario with 84.27 per cent.; Nova Scotia with 82.86 per cent.; Quebec with 80.96 per cent., and New Brunswick 80.05 per cent. In the west, British Columbia led with 75.33 per cent.; Manitoba second with 74.64 per cent.; Saskatchewan, 66.71, and Alberta, 62.83.

In 1911 Prince Edward Island had a school for the 196 of the total population, Nova Scotia one for every 185, New Brunswick one for every 186, Quebec one for every 290, and Ontario one for every 376.

Quebec and Ontario show the greatest percentage of children between 7 and 14 years of age attending school for more than six months, it being 76.47 per cent. of the total number in Quebec and 74.43 per cent. in Ontario. In the Maritime provinces, the percentage ranges from 62 to 67 and in the west from 43 to 61.

Conditions in the West
The bulletin referring more particularly to the west says: "The western provinces being the mecca of the immigrant and the bachelor homesteader from the eastern provinces, have to face the conditions which are incident to the opening up of settlement in a new country and therefore cannot be adversely compared as regards school attendance with older provinces of Canada, where conditions are stable. There are many things which render it difficult for the settler, whether immigrant or Canadian born, to procure a working education for his children—the principal of which are, for the immigrant, if a foreign lack of knowledge of our language, and for all classes, if homesteaders, that they have to take up land and make homes beyond the point where municipal organizations exist and which have unwillingly, for some years to deny their children an absolute necessity of a common school education."

"That the western provinces have not been remiss in their duty in providing means of education for the multitudes, which flock to their cities and spread over the plains in an ever increasing volume, is evidenced by the fact that Manitoba put in operation on an average two new schools per week, each year since 1906, Saskatchewan about five and Alberta about three per week."

Percentage of Attendance
Quebec and Ontario show the greatest percentage for children 7 to 14 years of age attending school for more than six months, being 76.47 per cent. of the total number in Quebec and 74.43 per cent. in Ontario. In the Maritime provinces, the percentage ranges from 61.24 to 67.90 per cent. and in the prairie provinces, from 43.76 per cent. in Saskatchewan to 61.74 per cent. in Manitoba. In British Columbia the proportion was 67.34 per cent. The Maritime and prairie provinces show the greatest proportion attending school from four to six months in the year.

Of the school population between 6 and 16 only 67.90 per cent. of males and 68.78 per cent. of females were reported as being at school for any length of time in the school year preceding the census. In other words, for Canada, exclusive of Yukon and the Northwest Territories, 321 boys and 313 girls per 1,000 of this age were allowed to remain away from school. According to this age grouping the highest percentage of school attendance, 72.58 per cent. for males and 72.61 per cent. for females was made by Prince Edward Island and the lowest by Alberta, with 54.94 per cent. for males and 54.68 per cent. for females.

Largest Yards in the World
Construction operations, extending over a period of almost two years, have now brought to a completion the new terminal yards of the C.P.R. at North Transcona.

The Winnipeg terminals of the C. P. R. are now the largest of their kind in America and perhaps the largest in the world. All told they comprise within a fraction of a mile of 300 miles of tracks. The Transcona tracks alone make a total of 158 and cover an aggregate distance of 105 miles. On these there is a capacity for 8,000 cars now and the work in prospect for the future will bring this capacity up to 12,000 cars.

New Buildings Not to Exceed 165 Ft.
That buildings in Winnipeg shall not exceed in height 165 feet, excepting church spires and towers, is the recommendation of a council committee appointed to deal with the matter.

DAIRY INSTRUCTION IN SASK.

Lantern Slides a Medium in Dairying Lessons—W. A. Wilson Holds 52 Meetings

A complete series of dairy meetings have been recently completed in Saskatchewan, which have been of great interest and value to the farmers. Arrangements were made with the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Pacific railway companies for a first class passenger coach and accommodation for two speakers. These two coaches were fitted up under the direction of dairy branch, department of agriculture, Regina, and provided with lanterns and some eighty lantern slides, illustrating various features of dairying as conducted in the province and the work that was being done to promote the industry. Representative slides were also shown of dairy breeds and animals in the respective breeds with enviable records, and the speaker in each dealt fully with the merits of such animals as compared with the ordinary type.

The car remained one day at each place, and was moved from point to point by passenger train. At many points afternoon and evening meetings were held. On the Grand Trunk Pacific 28 points were visited and 52 meetings held. The total number of farmers attending the meetings was 3,861, with an average of 138 at each place and 74 at each meeting. The largest attendance at one meeting was 350, and the speakers had to move their equipment from the car to a meeting hall in town. The Canadian Pacific itinerary covered 43 points and 48 meetings were held. There was an average attendance of 60 at each meeting, and a total attendance of 2,612. The largest attendance at one meeting was 110.

The value of lantern slides at such meetings cannot be estimated. It has three chief features. It provides an attraction in securing an attendance; it enables the speaker to show what he is talking about and promotes discussion on the various subjects presented. In our past experience at such meetings we never had anything like the interesting discussions which took place at the meetings where the slides were shown. Many of the evening meetings lasted until after midnight, and the afternoon meetings, though started at two o'clock, seldom terminated before six. In addition to the lantern slides the speakers had literature for distribution, and suitable printed matter was displayed on large cards throughout the car. It was a very common occurrence to see people in the audience with their notebooks, copying all that could be copied from the printed matter before the meeting opened, and many remained afterwards to complete the information.

The railway companies co-operated nobly with the government in carrying out this programme, and supplied the coach and equipment, together with an attendant to look after the heating of the car, entirely free of cost. In this respect they gave a great deal of assistance to the dairy industry in this province, and have shown their broad-mindedness in extending this liberal assistance to an industry requiring so much attention.

New Form of Civilization
That the Basutos in South Africa are capable of emerging from their tribal system into a new form of civilization, apart from white influence whatever, is the belief of Lord Selborne, a former High Commissioner for South Africa.

"But it will take a great many generations," he added. "Yet the process has begun, and it is very interesting to see the evolution from the ordinary hut to the nice house, and also to see the evolution from the tribal system of cultivation to that of individual tenure of land. Those in Europe who think that our civilization might be improved by our abolition of all forms of private property might do worse than consider the attempts of the more intelligent Basutos to escape from their tribal system."

Lord Selborne further declared his conviction that there was nothing to fear from the Basutos in South Africa unless they were misgoverned.

Changes in Naval Training
Changes have been made in the conditions governing the admission of naval cadets to the training college at Halifax. As Canada has no navy, those who pass through the college are no longer bound to adopt a naval career, while the government no longer promises to secure employment for them in the navy.

The college is to become an educational institution along the lines of the R.M.C. at Kingston. In addition to a general education, cadets will receive instruction in marine subjects and marine engineering, thus qualifying themselves for employment in the hydrographic, tidal and current surveys.

Drug Habit Grows at Alarming Rate

Owing to alarming ravages made by the opium habit in all classes of French society of late, a bill stringently to regulate the sale of the drug in its various forms has been drafted and will shortly be introduced in the chamber of deputies. In the meantime general orders have been issued by the police prefects of Paris, Toulon, Marseilles and other cities, to keep a sharp lookout for the traffic in all its phases and make arrests relentlessly wherever culprits may be found. The feelings of no one, regardless of their prominence, are to be spared.

CANADA TO HAVE LARGEST TELESCOPE

USED TO MEASURE MOVEMENT OF STARS FAINTER THAN FIFTH MAGNITUDE

The Canadian Government to Build the World's Largest Telescope at a Cost of $100,000, the Sum Representing a Notable Contribution to Pure Science.

The Canadian government will soon possess a more powerful reflector telescope than any now in existence. It has been referred to in the newspapers as "the largest telescope in the world," but this description is misleading for two reasons: First, because its aperture, 72 inches, is to be the same as that of the famous Parsonstown reflector, built by Lord Rosse in 1842; and second, because by the time the Canadian instrument is completed it now seems likely that the 100 inch reflector which has long been under construction for the Mount Wilson Solar Observatory will also be ready for use. The Canadian telescope will, however, be a much more efficient instrument than Lord Rosse's. Not only will the mirror be much superior, but the mounting will enable the telescope to be worked to the full advantage. The Parsonstown reflector has an altazimuth, not an equatorial, mounting, and is operated under such difficulties that comparatively little use has ever been made of it.

Contracts for the new telescope have just been awarded to J. Braghear for the mirrors and other optical parts, and to Warner and Swasey for the mounting. The disk for the principal mirror will be made by the St. Gobain glass works, in Paris. But all the grinding and figuring will be done in the United States. The total cost will be nearly $100,000. Inasmuch as the instrument is intended primarily and notoriously for work of no immediate practical benefit, viz., the spectrographic measurement, of radial stellar velocities, this sum represents a very notable contribution to pure science on the part of a government.

The telescope will have a parabolic mirror of 72 inches clear aperture and 30 feet focal length, with a central hole ten inches in diameter. The mounting is to be similar to that of the Ann Arbor and Melbourne reflectors, with a skeleton tube at one side and nearly midway between the bearings of the long polar axis, the balance being restored by the declination motion mechanism and by counterweights at the other side. Both polar and declination axes will be carried entirely on ball or roller bearings of collimating and a complicated system of counterweighted rollers for relieving the friction. The construction will also be simplified in other respects, e.g., all fine circles will be omitted as will the slow motion arm in right ascension. It is characteristic of twentieth century technique in astronomy that, although the new telescope will have a full set of oculars for visual observation, no program of visual work is contemplated. Nowadays the camera takes the place of the human retina. The main purpose of the instrument will be the measurement of motion in the line of sight of stars fainter than the fifth magnitude; a task beyond the light-gathering power of nearly all existing telescopes. For such work the telescope will generally be used in the Cassegrain form; the light from the main mirror converging toward a focus, will be received by a second hyperbolic mirror of about 19 inches aperture and 10 feet focus, placed about 23 feet above the main mirror. The light passes thence down through the hole in the main mirror, and the star images are formed about three feet below the latter. Here the spectrograph will be placed. For the fainter stars of low dispersion the spectrograph will probably be placed at the prime focus. An investigation of the atmospheric conditions in different parts of Canada is now in progress, to determine where the telescope will be located.—Scientific American.

WOULD DECIMALIZE TIME
Frenchman Proposes 20 Hours and 1,000 Chrones for Day

A suggestion is made in the current Revue Bleue for the purpose of bringing the chronological system into line with the decimalization of money, weights and distance.

This new proposal involves the division of the day into twenty periods, called hours, instead of twenty-four hours, each hour being similarly divided into fifty periods, called chronons, each chronon—about one and a half minutes—being the thousandth part of a day—as the gram and the meter are the thousandth part, respectively, of the kilogram and kilometer. The chronons are further subdivided into centichrones, the equivalent of a second.

The deviser of the plan asserts that the new system would facilitate marine observations, besides simplifying calculations of time generally. The French government, however, shows no inclination to adopt the idea.

The British government has forwarded through Walter Hines Page, the United States ambassador, its keen gratitude for the offer made by the state of Virginia to present to the British nation a copy of Houdon's statue of George Washington.

PRAIRIE INTO VALUABLE LAND

Stupendous Irrigation Work Near Bassano Practically Completed

The greatest irrigation plant on this side of the world was practically completed with the finishing of the great dam across the Bow river at Bassano, Alta.

In the Canadian work 3,000 men have been laboring constantly for three years. A battery of steam shovels, hundreds of concrete machines, 2,000 teams, a corps of engineers and survey men, hundreds of freight cars for supplies and material, have been employed. Altogether $17,000,000 has been spent to turn the territory into a rich agricultural district.

The area affected by this distribution of water lies at the foothills of the Rocky Mountains. It stretches practically from the outskirts of Calgary east to the Red Deer river and as far north as Edmonton.

Cutting this immense irrigation "block" nearly in half is the Bow river, a stream 200 yards wide, which rises in the Rockies and flows, an icy torrent, through Alberta. Near Bassano it bends in a wide sweep like a horseshoe, and there is located the Bassano dam.

This dam is situated eighty-three miles east of Calgary, is 7,000 feet long, 350 feet thick at the base, narrowing at the top to forty-five feet. It is built of earth, reinforced with concrete. Behind the dam are the gates of the main irrigation canal.

Propose Assistance to Wool Growers

The live stock branch of the Dominion department of agriculture is prepared to offer practical assistance this year to associations of wool growers in the preparation and display of their wool clips for market. Associations, in order to receive this aid, must be organized in accordance with the regulations of the branch, and membership is limited to actual owners of sheep. West of Fort William an association must contain at least 3,000 sheep, or sufficient to comprise one carload of wool; east of there, a relative number. The services of expert wool classifiers, who will take charge of and perform the grading, classification and preparation of the wool will be provided.

This proposal represents much more than a mere continuation of the work undertaken last year, when two wool classifiers, in the employ of the live stock branch, visited the western provinces and gave practical instruction and advice to sheep raisers upon wool growing.

Rather it means the introduction of a definite scheme whereby wool producers may be actually assisted in preparing and presenting their wools upon the market in the most acceptable fashion and thus be in a position to cater more directly to the requirements of the market. Moreover, it should prove effective in developing and improving the general status of sheep raising and in creating an impetus to the production and preparation of an improved grade of wool and indirectly a better class of mutton.

The branch will also provide the means for the establishment of a central bureau for the distribution of current information respecting domestic and foreign markets of wool, so that the associations may be constantly in command of complete knowledge concerning the source of the demand and the ruling price of all grades.

Reliable information of this nature will serve as an excellent asset to an association in directing its policy and placing it in closer relationship with the demands of the trade.

Sheep raisers desirous of taking advantage of this offer and of forming an association should write, for detailed information and application forms, to the live stock commissioner, Ottawa.

Air Ports in Britain

The Aerial League of the British Empire, in conjunction with the war office, and the admiralty, is making an effort to arouse the British public from the apathy in regard to aviation.

Plans are being made for the provision of aerial landing places throughout Great Britain. At first these "air" ports will be situated at places where they are most needed by the services, but in course of time it is hoped to have forty or fifty dotted about the country.

At least twenty-five acres will be required for each landing place, and they will be equipped with two hangars, fuel, spare parts, telephone, and, where possible, a wireless installation.

It is hoped that the financial resources will be considerably augmented by letting out the landing places as football and recreation grounds, but a considerable sum of money will be necessary for the initial expense.

At present, cross-country flying is considerably handicapped by the absence of suitable landing places, and it is hoped that a scheme which arouses local interest as well as patriotic will receive the fullest support in the old country, and later in the dominions.

REPUBLIC OF MEXICO AND ITS HISTORY

COUNTRY HAS BEEN THROUGH MANY HANDS AND STRANGE ADVENTURES

History Dates Back to the Year 720—The Aztecs Established an Empire With a High Grade of Civilization Before the Invasion of the Spaniards.

The republic of Mexico, officially called the United States of Mexico, was one of the two great vice-royalties of Spain in the new world. Mexico and Peru, represented the dominions of a territory extending from the undefined north to the extremity of South America.

From the hopelessly confused legendary accounts of events in prehistoric Mexico, it is possible to make out only a rough outline of what happened. The Toltecs began a long course of wandering through the valleys about the year 720. They held sway until 1103, when their power was overthrown and they themselves driven southward through Central America. Their conquerors the Chichimecas, held the land until they were, in turn, overpowered by the Aztecs, who had wandered into the country from the north.

Aztecs Established Empire

The Aztecs established an empire with a high grade of civilization considering the wildness and savagery of the rest of the American hemisphere. The architecture, government, mode of living, and commerce were such as to astonish the Spaniards under Cortez, who invaded the country in 1519. Montezuma, was their emperor.

The Spaniards quickly went to war with the Aztecs. The latter fought bravely for a time, but could do nothing before Cortez's cannon.

In 1810 a priest, Miguel Hidalgo, rang the church bell and called upon his people to throw off the yoke of foreign tyranny. A year later he was captured and shot, but the revolution continued until 1822, when Iturbide, a former Spanish official, but then a revolutionist, was proclaimed emperor of the independent monarchy, a year later a republic was established, and Quadalupe Victoria became the first president.

Texas Quits Mexico

In 1836 the Texans made good their separation from Mexico, and ten years later the United States army invaded the country, finding an easy conquest. Civil war followed and some of the European powers sent troops to protect the foreign citizens in Mexico.

Later on, all but France withdrew their troops, and it was then that Napoleon III. unfolded his plan for establishing a French empire in Mexico. He persuaded the weak-willed Austrian Archduke Maximilian to ascend the throne with his wife, the now insane Empress Charlotte.

The Mexicans then overthrew the monarchy, captured and shot the emperor and established another republic. General Juarez, leader of the patriots, became president. Upon his death, in 1872, Juarez was succeeded by Lerdo de Tejada, who was ousted by Porfirio Diaz, in 1877. Diaz was succeeded by his friend, Manuel Gonzalez, in 1880, who was, in turn, followed by Diaz again, the latter having changed the constitution limiting the terms a president might hold.

Follow United States

The government is patterned after that of the United States, having a president, vice-president, congress composed of two houses, and a similar system of judiciary.

Mexico is one of the richest mining countries in the world, and has vast water, timber and agricultural resources. It has been largely developed and exploited by foreign capital, with little or no advantage to the people at large.

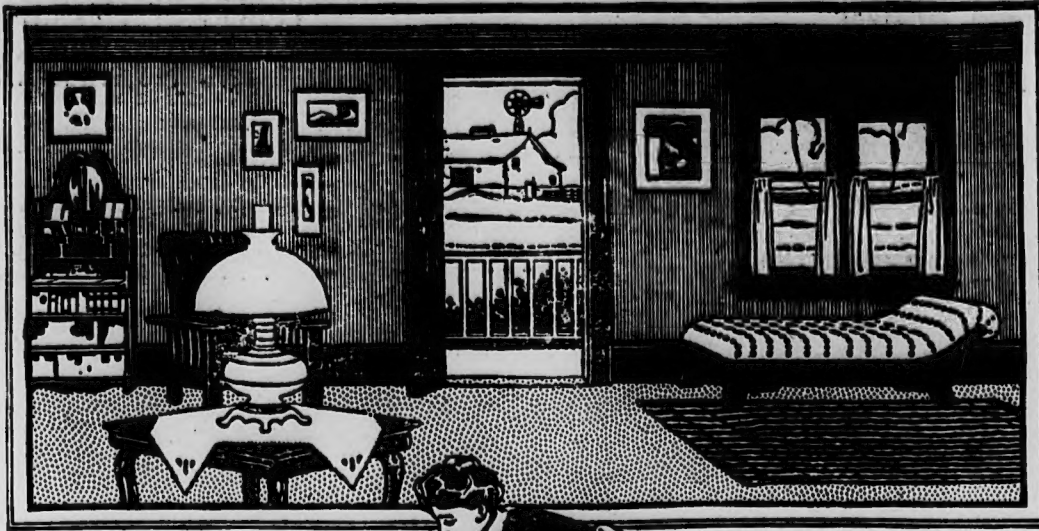

There are more than 16,000,000 inhabitants, over 10,000,000 of whom are pure-blooded Indians or largely of Indian blood. The ruling class is, for the most part, of nearly pure Spanish blood, and constitutes a very small part of the population.

The Latest Homestead Map

The twelfth edition of a publication which should prove of interest to every person following the progress of settlement throughout the province of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta is now being prepared in the railway lands branch of the department of the interior at Ottawa. It is known as a "Homestead Map," and shows in a graphic way the land situation up to the beginning of the present year, also the standing of each quarter section throughout the three prairie provinces, according to the records of the department on the 1st of January, 1914. The map has been issued in three separate sheets, one for each province, the Saskatchewan and Manitoba sheets now being available for distribution, the additional sheet covering the province of Alberta to follow at an early date.

In addition to the information regarding lands which have been homesteaded or otherwise disposed of, the publication contains complete information with respect to Indian reserves, timber berths, grazing leases, post offices, railways, etc., throughout the three provinces.

The homestead map is being distributed free of charge. A copy of the Saskatchewan or Manitoba sheet may now be obtained upon application to F. C. Lynch, superintendent of railway lands, department of the interior, Ottawa.

We all appreciate comfortable, attractive homes, but we don't realize how much modern paint-making will help us in improving our surroundings.

Nowadays people are giving more attention to the interior decoration and furnishing of their homes than they ever did before. The standard of living has been raised. What satisfied us a few years ago will not do now.

The Sherwin-Williams Co. has given particular attention to the making of finishes for the interior decoration of the home and they have succeeded so well that their finishes are used for every purpose in the most elaborate mansion, and also in the most humble cottage.

The walls of your home can be finished with S-W Flat-tone, a durable flat-drying oil paint, absolutely sanitary—can be washed with soap and water—or S-W Decotint, a special water paint for this purpose. Use S-W Inside Floor Paint for your floors, or if you prefer a stained and varnished finish use S-W Floorlac. On hardwood floors use S-W Mar-not, a durable waterproof floor varnish.

For the cupboards, woodwork, doors, etc. use S-W Family Paint in any color you desire. Use S-W Kopal Varnish for varnishing wainscoting, base boards, doors, and any kind of interior woodwork on which you require a varnish finish. There is a Sherwin-Williams finish for every kind of surface and for every purpose. Come and talk to us about your finishing problems.

The Relief From Pain

Is Worth Many Times the Cost.

Do you know that nine out of every ten cases of rheumatism are simply muscular rheumatism, due to cold or damp, or chronic rheumatism, which attacks the larger joints, knees, hips and shoulders? None of these varieties requires any internal treatment. All you need is a free application of with vigorous massage to effect a cure. Try it. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose by doing so. It costs but a trifle. If you are not satisfied after using two-thirds of the bottle, take it back and get your money. Is that not fair?

Agricultural School Olds

It will no doubt be interesting to our readers to learn that in all probability the School of Agriculture at Olds will be full and running over again next year. Last year 61 boys and 39 girls attended the Agricultural and Household Science classes. The Minister of Agriculture is providing a new building to take care of the Agronomy and Live Stock work, consequently with this added room we will be able to accommodate approximately 175 students.

Up to date 42 of last year's students and 27 of last year's Household Science students have signed their applications for next year. 14 new applications have been received for first year work among the boys, and some 2 or 3 new applications from girls. Registration is beginning unusually early this year, and as already suggested, the school will in all probability be refusing students before the opening day, which will be the 27th day of October.

All young men or women in the vicinity who may be interested in either Agricultural education or Household Science training would do well to correspond with W. J. Elliott, Principal, School of Agriculture, at once.

Cadet Camp

The dates for the Southern Alberta Cadet Camp have been announced as July 2 to 7 inclusive. The camp will be situated at Calgary on the Reservoir site and will follow the Militia Camp, allowing a few days for cleaning up the camp after the militia have left.

No efforts are being spared by the authorities to make the camp a great success this year. Col. Sam Hughes has secured the co operation of the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Secretaries, and in every cadet camp in Canada the Y. M. C. A. will have complete charge of the athletic programme, as well as maintaining reading tents, letter writing facilities and other things that pertain to the welfare of the boys.

A big athletic meet will be held during the camp, with events for every boy according to his weight. Additional sports, including baseball, football and the famous Standard Efficiency Tests are being arranged for daily.

Cadet companies from as far north as Olds and as far south as Cardston will be in attendance, amounting to more than 1000 boys in all.

Rural Municipality of Mountain View No. 310

Minutes of the Council of the Rural Municipality of Mountain View No. 310 held at Didsbury, June 6th, 1914.

The Reeve called the Council to order at 11 a.m., with all members of the Council present.

The minutes of the meeting held on May 2nd were read.

Moved by Councillor Francis that the minutes be adopted as read. Carried.

A communication was read from the Secretary of the Railway Commission regarding P. P. Dick crossing west of S. W. 7-31-15.

Moved by Councillor McCuen that the Secretary Treasurer appear before the Railway Commission at Calgary on June 22nd on behalf of the Municipality regarding crossing west of S. W. 7-31-15. Carried.

A communication was read from the Secretary of the Railway Commission, regarding crossing west of N. W. 19-31-15.

The Secretary was instructed to obtain the necessary plans and profiles and submit the same to the Railway Commission.

A communication was read from the Hail Board regarding payment of Hail Insurance Taxes to the Hail Board.

It was moved by Mr. Pearson that the letter be laid over and considered at the next meeting of the Council. Carried.

The committee appointed to report on petition of Mr. Cipperly and others for improvement of road between 5 and 6, 7 and 8-32-1-5 reported verbally that the work would be too great to undertake this year.

Moved by Councillor Smith that Deputy-Reeve Rupp be asked to call for tenders to build a passable road between 7 and 8-32-1-5, and report at the next meeting. Carried.

Moved by Reeve Pearson that the Council adjourn and sit as a Court of Revision of the 1914 Assessment Roll. Carried.

Moved by Reeve Pearson that the following corrections be made on the assessment roll:

All 11-33-28-4 to be assessed in the name of C. H. Richardson; N. ½ 5-32-1-5 to be assessed in the name of Chas. Deadrick; S. W. 13-31-1-5 to be assessed in the name of Wilmer Reist; S. E. and N. W. 29-31-27-4 to be assessed in the name of Hugh McLean and J. Shiels.

Moved by Reeve Pearson that the following lands be assessed as follows: N. E. 6-32-27-4 at $1600; N. E. 14-33-27-4 at $2200; S. W. 4-32-27-4 at $2100; S. E. 12-32-28-4 at $1000; N. E. 34-32-1-5 at $3600. Carried.

Moved by Councillor Francis that all other assessments stand on the roll as made by the assessor. Carried.

Moved by Reeve Pearson that the Council as a Court of Revision rise and continue the business of the council. Carried.

Moved by Councillor McCuen that the rate of taxation for 1914 be six mills on the dollar.

Moved in amendment by Councillor Francis that the rate of taxation be five mills on the dollar.

The vote being taken on the amendment to the motion was as follows:

For—Francis, Rupp, Pearson.
Against—McCuen, Smith, Metz.

The amendment was declared lost.

The vote being taken on the motion was as follows:

For—McCuen, Smith, Metz.
Against—Francis, Rupp, Pearson.

The motion was declared lost.
Moved by Reeve Pearson that the rate of taxation for 1914 be five and one-half mills on the dollar. Carried.

Moved by Reeve Pearson that the Secretary write the Department of Public Works that in the opinion of the Council the bridge across the Rosebud creek on the blind line across section 17-31-1-5, is unsafe, and that a new bridge should be constructed and located in line with the road up the hill. Carried.

Moved by Councillor Smith that by-law No. 3 be laid over for consideration until next regular council meeting. Carried.

The Council will meet at Olds on Saturday, July 4th.

How to Live 100 Years

Dr. Edgar Jones, who died at 111's Burstead, Essex, aged 102 years, was believed to be the oldest doctor and J. P. in England. For 78 years he was a member of the Royal College of Surgeons.

In his early days Dr. Jones was a keen sportsman and an excellent cricketer. He played tennis when over eighty. He was very fond of mountaineering, and when over sixty he climbed Snowdon in an hour and twenty minutes, descended, and took some friends for a row. He was a very good shot, and took great pleasure in partridge-shooting, although he had little liking for the modern batue.

When interviewed on one occasion Dr. Jones gave the following advice: "If you want to live to be 100, do not smoke, drink no alcohol, take plenty of exercise, and, above all, be cheerful."

Dr. Jones added that at Vienna, in 1862, he tasted the only glass of beer he ever drank in his life. He was a firm believer in fixed hours for meals and attributed much of the illness of the present day to irregular and hurried eating. Up to a year or two ago his meal consisted of: Breakfast: Tea, bread and butter, and an egg. Midday dinner: Meat and vegetables, and in the evening tea and toast as the last meal of the day.

Dr. Jones came of a long lived family. His father died at the age of ninety-one, and his eldest brother at ninety. His sister lived to be almost a centenarian; and he has a brother still living who is over ninety.

An Indian Ghost Story

Several years ago I had a studio in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and the walls of my reception rooms and office were hung with large photographs of Indians. One day I was visited by six men of the Navajo tribe who, after much smoking and visiting, made known the real cause of their call. Directly over my desk was a framed portrait of one of the old medicine men of their tribe, who had just died. Believing that a part of his soul was imprisoned in the portrait—else how could it look so like him?—they asked me if I would not destroy it, so that his spirit might be released and be at peace. I immediately took the print from the frame and tore it into bits while the men looked on with silent approval. After thanking me they each shook my hand in turn and fled quietly out of the room. They did not suspect that there might still be in existence other copies of the picture or a negative.—Karl Moon in Leslie's.

POSTMISTRESS IS QUITE WELL AGAIN

FOUND COMPLETE CURE IN DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Mrs. Gray, Who Was Nervous and Run Down for Two Years, Tells How She Found New Health.

Titchborne, Frontenac Co., Ont.—(Special).—Mrs. H. Gray, the popular postmistress here, is telling her friends of the great benefit she has received from taking Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For about two years," Mrs. Gray says, "I was all run down. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing, and I suffered from shortness of breath and heart flutterings. I finally decided that the kidneys were the cause of my trouble and decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I took four boxes in all, and I feel quite strong and like myself again. I certainly think Dodd's Kidney Pills are a good medicine."

The experience of the postmistress is similar to that of thousands of other Canadian women. They were weak, run down, nervous and in bad health generally. They took Dodd's Kidney Pills and are strong and well again.

The reason is that when the kidneys get out of order they fail to strain the impurities out of the blood and general lassitude and weakness ensues. The natural cure is to cure the kidneys. The experience of thousands of others tells you that Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the kidneys.

Not a Pear

Those who love to study human nature often derive as much pleasure from watching the people who visit picture galleries as they receive from the pictures themselves.

Two young women were looking at a picture in one of the art galleries entitled "His Only Pair." The artist has depicted a poor boy sitting up in bed while his hard working mother mends his only pair of trousers. The boy, although obliged to remain in bed while the repairs are in progress, is contentedly eating an orange.

One of the visitors evinced a special interest in the picture and gazed long and earnestly at it. Then, turning to her companion, remarked: "His Only Pair." I don't call that a pear at all. It's an orange that he is eating."—Detroit Free Press.

A Standard Medicine.—Parnelle's Vegetable Pills, compounded of entirely vegetable substances known to have a revivifying and salutary effect upon the digestive organs, have through years of use attained so eminent a position that they rank as a standard medicine. The ailing should remember this. Simple in their composition, they can be assimilated by the weakest stomach and are certain to have a healthful and agreeable effect on the sluggish digestive organs.

A henpecked man was set to work by his wife to do a bit of repair work to the porch doors. While hubby was so engaged the wife would, from time to time, go out to see what progress he was making.

"Is there anything you need?" asked she, on the second trip. The man on the ladder gulped once or twice, but made no reply. Again the wife put the question and again a gulp was the only answer.

"Why don't you answer me?" she demanded ominously.

The unhappy man turned most apologetically and said: "But, sweetheart, my mouth is full of screws. I couldn't answer until I swallowed some."

Terrible Scalding Accident

ZAM-BUK GAVE QUICK RELIEF

For taking the pain out of a burn or scald there is nothing equal to Zam-Buk. Mrs. Eugene Demers, of Pembroke, Ont., who was the victim of a painful scalding accident, proved this. She says: "I was carrying a boiler of steaming water from the stove to the wash-tub, when suddenly my strength failed. As the boiler was falling in spite of my efforts, I heard my babies cry, and to avoid scalding them I gave the vessel a quick turn. The effect of this was that every drop of the boiling water poured over my feet and limbs, scalding me from my waist down."

"As soon as I saw the children had escaped, I told my oldest boy to bring the Zam-Buk (which we always keep in the house). I applied Zam-Buk freely, and the pain was soon eased. I continued using Zam-Buk and in a wonderfully short time the sores were completely healed."

Zam-Buk is equally good for cuts, bruises, eczema, ulcers, piles, pimples, etc. Price 50c per box, at all druggists and stores, or post free from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, on receipt of price. Refuse substitutes and imitations. There is nothing "just as good."

Sir Henry Lucy tells how, after the home rule bill rupture, Sir William Harcourt and Sir Henry James still retained unbroken an intimate friendship.

One day, in conversation, Lord Morris remarked on the charm of this incident in the storm and stress of party warfare.

"Yes," said Harcourt, softly, with a wistful faraway look in his eye, "we are, as you may say, brothers."

"So were Cain and Abel," said Lord Morris.

Quite Lady-Like

Frances came downstairs like a ton of bricks. "Now Frances," said the little girl's mother, "you come downstairs so nicely that you could be heard all over the house. Now go and come down quietly, and properly, as a lady should do."

Frances retired, and in a few minutes re-entered the parlor.

"Did you hear me come downstairs this time, mother?" she asked.

"No, dear, you come down like a lady that time," replied her mother.

"Yes," said Frances, "I slid down the banisters."

A lady who had called to see Mrs. B. found her little son, Frank, in the library rubbing his eyes and yawning.

"Sleepy?" she inquired.

"Um," grunted Frank.

"I suppose you usually go to bed with the chickens," smiled the visitor.

"No, I don't!" snapped Frank. "I have a little bed in my room all to myself."—The Delinquent.

"But where is my bell?" asked the lady.

"The bell is beside your bed," replied the proprietor.

"That the bell!" she exclaimed.

Every Stiff Joint Limbered, Rheumatism Cured!

That Old Family Remedy "Nerviline" is Guaranteed for the Worst Cases

CURES NEURALGIA, BACKACHE, LUMBAGO

Rheumatism today is unnecessary. It is as well understood and so readily curable that every day we have reports of old chronicles being freed of their tormenter.

"I can speak confidently of the Nerviline treatment, for the simple reason that it cured me," writes Albert B. Cornelius, from Kingston. "You can't imagine how stiff and lame and sore I was. Nights at a time I couldn't sleep well. I followed the Nerviline directions carefully—had it rubbed into the sore regions four or five times every day. Every rubbing helped to reduce the pain. The swelling went down. I got a fair measure of relief in a week. I also took two Ferrozone Tablets with my meals. They increased my appetite and spirits, purified my blood and toned up my system generally."

"I am as well today as a man could be—in perfect good health. I give Nerviline all the credit."

A large family size bottle of Nerviline costs only 50c., or the trial size 25c., and is useful in a hundred ills in the family. Whether it's toothache, carache, headache, neuralgia, lame back or a cold, Nerviline will cure just as readily as it will cure rheumatism. For family use nothing equals Nerviline.

PARALYSIS AND LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA

The most dreaded results of neglected nervous diseases—Study this chart and the symptoms stated here to learn if you are in danger—
DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will cure you.

To understand paralysis and locomotor ataxia, which is paralysis of the limbs, and their causes, it is well to remember that every movement of the body or its members is due to the contraction of muscle, which can only take place under the influence of nerve force. As this all-important nerve force is created in the nerve centres of the brain and spinal cord, and conducted along wire-like nerve fibres to the various parts of the body, any derangement of the brain, spinal cord or nerve fibres may result in paralysis or loss of the power of movement.

Paralysis, then, is the natural result of all neglected nervous diseases.

If you find yourself nervous and irritable, oversensitive to light, sound and motion, addicted to continual movement or tapping of the fingers, twitching of the muscles, sudden startings and jerking of the limbs during sleep; if you have nervous headaches or dyspepsia, are unable to sleep or rest, feel downhearted and discouraged, and unfit to fight the battles of life; if your nerves are weak and exhausted, your blood thin and watery, you have every reason to fear paralysis of at least some part of the body, and consequent suffering and helplessness.

Paralysis can always be prevented, and partial paralysis actually cured, by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The time to begin treatment is when any of the above-mentioned symptoms become apparent. These are indications of a degeneration of the nerve cells, and when nerve force becomes exhausted, paralysis is bound to follow.

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

acts on the system in an entirely different way to ordinary medicines. It is neither a stimulant to whip tired nerves to renewed activity, nor a narcotic, or opiate, to deaden the nerves. On the contrary, it is a food cure, which forms new, red corpuscles in the blood and creates new nerve cells. Every day it is bringing back health, strength and vitality to scores and hundreds who have become discouraged through the failure of doctors and other treatments to cure them. Why not get started on the way to health at once by using this great food cure? Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or EDMANSON, BATES & CO., Limited, Toronto. Write for booklet on "The Nerves."

Cannot Put on Business Tax

The following letter explains itself.
Edmonton, May 22nd, 1914

B. A. ST. CLAIR, Esq.,
Sec. Treas. Town of Didsbury,
Didsbury, Alta.

Sir:-

I am in receipt of your letter of the 20th inst., enclosing petition of the Council of the Town of Didsbury asking for authority to levy a business tax.

The situation in regard to this matter is, however, as follows: By Section 270 A of the Town Act authority is given for the granting of power to levy a business tax where it can be shown that it is impossible for the Town to raise sufficient revenue by the imposition of taxes already provided for in the Act. At the last Session of the Legislature, however, Section 294 of the Town Act was amended so that there is now no limit as to the rate of taxation that may be levied. This being the case there is evidently now no possibility of the Council being able to show as required by Section 270 A that they cannot raise sufficient revenue by the imposition of taxes otherwise provided for. This being the case we cannot, therefore, undertake to grant the authority asked for in the petition which you forwarded.

Your obedient servant,
Jno. PERRIE,
Deputy Minister

Heavy Shipments Milk and Cream

The shipment of milk and cream to Calgary from Didsbury is gradually increasing, and the big truck loads of milk filled cans which can be seen any day about noon time waiting for the noon train is one of the best and surest indications that the farmers in the immediate district of Didsbury are taking full advantage of mixed farming to supply the local market which the city of Calgary supplies.

The shipments of milk and cream from the local depot every day amounts to 1400 gallons; 370 gallons cream and 1035 gallons of milk. This does not of course include the milk and cream brought into the local creameries which added to the above would make the total very much larger. The revenue derived from this branch of mixed farming alone in this district is a handsome one and the beauty of it is that it is all straight cash.

Here is a minister who appreciates the editor. At a recent editorial convention he offered the following toast: "To save an editor from starvation, take his paper and pay for it promptly. To save him from bankruptcy, advertise in his paper liberally. To save him from despair, send every item of which you can get hold. To save him from profanity, write your correspondence plainly on one side of the sheet and send it in as early as possible. To save him from mistakes, bury him. Dead people are the only ones who never make mistakes."—Innisfail Province.

Rev. W. J. Speers who made a tour of Western Canada spoke of a young Englishman with whom he had talked and who had gone to the west two years ago with $200, and was now worth $15,000. He asked him how he would like to go back to England. "That would be the worst sentence you could pass on me" he replied.

Harness Store Opens June 13th

The Great West Saddlery Company's new building on Railroad Ave. is now nearly completed. This building under the supervision of Architect Miller, of Calgary, and Contractor Morrison of Didsbury, has been put up in record time, about six weeks from start to finish.

This building will be leased and occupied by J. M. Hysmith, the harness dealer who will open up for business in his new quarters on Saturday, June 13th.

It is Mr. Hysmith's intention to make this store one of the most modern and up-to-date harness stores in Western Canada, and the public will find here anything they wish in harness and harness supplies without having to send away for anything.

Mr. Geo. Watson, the shoemaker, will be located in the same building with Mr. Hysmith and will be glad to meet all his old customers in his new quarters.

Loosing a Bit of the Empire

The British Empire is so big that a few chips may drop off without attracting any particular notice. Somewhere between Australia and Antarctica there is according to the maps and Admiralty charts, a British group called the "Royal Company Islands." But a captain recently sailed over the spot where these islands ought to be, without seeing any of them. However, their position is somewhat uncertain. There is a difference of a degree between English and French charts as to their situation. A steamer left Sydney to try to rediscover these missing islands. They were last seen 30 years ago.
